

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

H2L and the black and orange square device are trademarks registered with the Intellectual Property Office in the United Kingdom.

Trademark infringement of H2L and the black and orange square device is a violation of the exclusive rights attached to the registration of H2L Property Management Limited and legal proceedings will be commenced against any party that infringes its registration.